TLF Announces Fourth Annual Worldwide Art, Essay and Poetry Invitational for Global Love Day

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Tampa, FL January 30, 2007 -- It's all about LOVE and CREATIVITY in global proportions! The Love Foundation is once again inviting students, schools and anyone young at heart to submit their original Art, Essay or Poetry piece in honor of the fourth annual Global Love Day set for May 1, 2007. Each submission shall be based on this year's theme of "Love Begins With Me." Previous Finalists have come from around the world representing various countries and cultures. To review 2007 guidelines, past Finalists, or for more information, visit <http://www.thelovefoundation.com>

The Invitational encourages children of all ages to share their creative expression of unconditional love in one or more of the main categories. Each submission should reflect a universal understanding of love, unity, tolerance, compassion and represent the idea of Global Love Day and this year's theme. Around May 1st, The TLF Board of Director's choose one Finalist from each group and present a Director's Award along with additional selections for Honorable Mention. One submission may be selected out of all categories to receive a special Founder's Award for a specific piece that most embodies the vision. The review process seeks an overall feeling that each submission conveys and is not based on technical expertise. There is no fee and all original entries must be postmarked and mailed to P.O. Box 10114, Tampa, Florida 33679-0114, USA, by March 31, 2007 for consideration.

Global Love Day each May 1st, is the inspiration of TLF's Founder and President, Harold W. Becker, and is an annual celebration of humanity. "When we, as individuals, realize our potential to love unconditionally, we transform ourselves and the planet at the same time" shares Becker, "Together; we can make a difference by joining our energy during this one day celebration."
